

ENDS THE INCIDENT

Recall of American Diplomat From Caracas.

NOT LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

United States Government Desires No Further Difficulty With Venezuela. President Castro, However, May Add to Complication.

Washington, June 26.—The American government is not looking for any further trouble in Venezuela and the recall of Jacob Sleeper, charge, and Lieutenant Ruggles of the legation at Caracas apparently ends the diplomatic incident except so far as President Castro may add to the complication by some official action.

Almost a dozen consular officers and agents of the American government are stationed in the several Venezuelan states and it is understood that there is no intention on the part of the government to remove them, as they are attending to the interests of the American citizens and their absence would be undesirable. These agents have no diplomatic functions, but if there had been sufficient reason the state department would not hesitate to direct them to surrender their exequators and request officers of some other government to look after the interests of the United States.

Officials here are watching with interest the developments in Venezuela, but it is not believed likely that there will be trouble to necessitate any armed force for the protection of American interests. Those who are familiar with the conditions there point to the presence in the neighboring state of Colombia of many members of the revolutionary party and it is reported that some of these are organizing a filibustering expedition on a large scale. These rebels, it is stated, might enter Venezuela in the neighborhood of Maracibo. While it would be a violation of international law on the part of Colombia to permit the organization of such an expedition, the fact that the diplomatic relations between the two countries has been interrupted for more than a year would doubtless make Colombia less watchful to prevent such an outcome. The American government by a mere coincidence has an ample force near Venezuelan waters to take care of the American interests in the event of any uprising. In the waters of the West Indies and the Isthmian canal zone there are a number of vessels that could be dispatched promptly to any possible scene of trouble. No thought has been given to the concentration of any force in that neighborhood, but in the case of necessity no time would be lost in getting them together.

SHERMAN IS IMPROVING.

All Thoughts of an Immediate Operation Dismissed.

Cleveland, O., June 26.—Representative James S. Sherman has made such rapid progress in recovering from his illness that all thoughts of an immediate operation have been dismissed. The candidate is near recovery, Dr. E. P. Carter said, and there now is no reason to be anxious over his condition.

Mr. Sherman passed a comfortable day. The greatest progress was during the morning. During the afternoon he lost no ground.

Mrs. Sherman was with her husband almost constantly.

H. E. Devendorf, Mr. Sherman's private secretary, has returned to Utica.

DROWNS FOUR CHILDREN.

Iowa Woman Also Tries to End Her Own Life While Insane.

Iowa Grove, Ia., June 26.—While temporarily insane, Mrs. August P. Johnson drowned her four little children in the cistern at their farm home half a mile south of town. The eldest was about six years old. The mother tried to drown herself, but was rescued by neighbors.

Hackenschmidt Is Alive.

Aix La Chapelle, France, June 26.—George Hackenschmidt, the ex-champion wrestler, whose death has been reported, is alive and apparently well. He has completely recovered from the effects of an operation upon his knee, which he underwent recently. He was seen at the hotel where he has been stopping the past week, and he said that the operation, which was a minor one, had been entirely successful. His condition, he added, was excellent.

"I shay, ol' fellow, zee there?" remarked a suburbanite to a neighbor with whom he had had a convivial night. "There's a burglar getting into your house by zee window."

"Sho he is! Wait a little! My wife'll zink he's me, and she'll half kill him!" responded the other.—London Telegraph

JACOBSON IN THE LEAD.

May Be Candidate of Republicans for Governor of Minnesota.

St. Paul, June 26.—The Republican county conventions Thursday made J. F. Jacobson of Madison the leading candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

His chances after the county conventions look better than the returns from the primaries indicated, although he is a long ways from having enough instructed delegates to nominate him on the first ballot. Uninstructed delegations were elected in about a third of the counties, enough to leave the governorship undecided, but the reports from these counties show Jacobson to be the favorite with a great majority of the delegates.

Should these delegates all vote as the returns say they will, Jacobson will probably have the nomination on the first ballot. The showing on the face of the returns is sufficient in warranting the Jacobson followers in feeling very happy.

A tabulation of returns gives Jacobson 353 delegates pledged and 141 favorable, 203 pledged or favorable to Young, 113 to Snider and 46 to Heatwole. This leaves 287 whose sentiments are unknown. This latter includes St. Louis, of which Young claims ten. Giving the remainder St. Louis to Jacobson, he is still short forty-nine of a majority, but it gets a fourth of the doubtful delegates he will have more than the necessary 572.

The returns give Jacobson just a little better showing than the primaries indicated. Kittson, which Young claimed, instructed for Jacobson, and Dodge, also claimed by Young, was divided. Young, on the other hand, carried Nobles, which had hardly been expected. Instructions for Jacobson were defeated in Mower and Otter Tail and for Young in Steele.

Ramsey county came in early with a solid delegation for Jacobson, instructed and tied with the unit rule.

In Hennepin county the Snider faction won out on organization by about thirty votes, electing Judge Steele chairman. They then passed a resolution directing the delegation "to cast its entire ballot for Mr. Snider until such time as the majority of the delegation may decide otherwise."

DEMOCRATS OF IOWA.

Engage in Spirited Contest Over Liquor Plank.

Sioux City, Ia., June 26.—Enlivened in its last hours by a spirited contest over the "liquor" plank in its platform, the fight on which had been previously waged for four hours in the committee on resolutions, the Democratic state convention was brought to a close with enthusiastic cheers for W. J. Bryan and for the Iowa state ticket. The so-called liquor plank, which was adopted by a good majority, simply affirms the traditional policy of the party with reference to local self-government.

The proceedings also witnessed an interesting fight between four of the leading Democratic jurists of the state for the nomination for judges of the supreme court. On a roll call vote by counties D. W. Higbee of Creston and Judge C. J. House of Maquoketa were the winners by substantial majorities. The other candidates were Captain W. H. Jacques of Ottumwa and Theodore Bradford of Marshalltown.

The resolutions as adopted express gratification over the prospect for the nomination of Bryan for president; commend Claude R. Porter and Fred E. White, candidates respectively for United States senator and governor; demand election of senators by popular vote; denounce "government by injunction and its putative father;" endorse legislation for improved roads and waterways; denounce prevailing freight rates as a discrimination against the people of Iowa, and favor greater powers for the state railway commission; demand enforcement of Iowa statutes against trusts and illegal combinations; criticize the policy of the state board of health and urge legislation more accurately defining its powers; favor the establishment of a state insurance commission; urge state recognition of farmers' institutes; favor legislative encouragement of dairy interests; reaffirm "the traditional policy of the Democratic party with reference to self-government and home rule."

New South Dakota Capitol.

Pierre, S. D., June 26.—With Grand Mason Davenport of South Dakota grand lodge as master of ceremonies, the cornerstone of the new capitol of this state was laid in this city. The address of the day was made by General W. H. H. Beadle, one of the leading educators of the state, who assisted in framing the constitution and who secured the adoption of the provisions guarding land grants. The building is being erected through the sale of lands donated by the national government.

For every son born into the family of a Turkish subject a military tax amounting to about $2 a year for each person has to be paid.

NEGRO RELIGIOUS RIOT.

Members of Rival Demonstrations Engaged by Preacher.

Waco, Tex., June 26.—A religious riot among several hundred negroes occurred at Rosenthal, ten miles south of here. Fully 100 shots were fired and several negroes were badly bruised by being knocked in the head. Rev. Fuqua, chief preacher of the Living God, a new religious organization among the negroes, was speaking and had been very severe on the other denominations, characterizing them as worthless and of little use.

This aroused an enmity among the negroes of the other denominations, which finally resulted in the rioting. An investigation is being made by officers.

Tries to Wipe Out His Family.

Houghton, Mich., June 26.—John Heikkila, thirty-seven years of age, a resident of Hancock, twice shot and fearfully injured his wife, aged twenty-two, an infant daughter, and then turned the revolver on himself, inflicting dangerous wounds. All three are in St. Joseph's hospital, Hancock, and recovery is doubtful. Jealousy is given as the cause for Heikkila's act.

MARSHALL IN THE LEAD.

May Win Republican Senatorial Nomination in North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., June 26.—With at least a third of the counties in the state to hear from, the stalwart wing of the Republican party seems to have named the state ticket, with the possible exception of the supreme court judge, and it appears as though Spaulding will be nominated to succeed himself. Missing returns are not likely to change the results materially. The standing for United States senator from authoritative computations based on returns actually to hand are Marshall, 8,000; M. N. Johnson, 6,600; Little, 5,500; Hansbrough, 4,250. The latter seems to have carried Ward county 200 to the good. L. B. Hanna of this city was nominated for congress by at least 10,000 plurality, with Congressman Gronna a close second to succeed himself. There were nine candidates. C. A. Johnson of Minot, stalwart, defeated Treadwell Twichell, insurgent, for governor, by a majority which is now claimed to be 15,000, and carried the rest of the stalwart state ticket with him, excepting supreme court judge and state superintendent of schools, which will be close. E. C. Cooper for insurance commissioner is renominated and Gilbreath for department of agriculture. No reliable returns as to legislature are at hand.

Legislator Commits Suicide.

Humboldt, Neb., June 26.—Albert E. Stallder, a leading farmer and a representative from Richardson county in the state legislature, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid at his home. Ill health and losses from flooded farm lands are supposed to have prompted the act.

LOTS

The A. A. White Townsite Co. is offering some of the best lots in Brainerd at prices lower than any other residence lots in the city. A small payment at from $5 to $10 will secure one of these lots. The balance of payment can be made to suit the purchaser.

Striking Necklace Novelty.

The reverse clutch necklace apparently is to be the leading summer novelty in jewelry. Already it has been seen in society as well as on the stage. Whether it is artistic depends on individual fancy. Startling it certainly is, for it makes it difficult to determine whether the wearer's progress is professional or recessionary, says the New York Press. There is nothing out of the ordinary about the necklace except that it is reversed so that the pendant hangs behind instead of in front. Worn over a street frock it is not so astounding, but with evening dress it is likely to make the beholder go through the traditional ceremony of rubbing his eyes. The pendant, with a low cut gown, falls between the shoulder blades. Whatever its character, whether plain gold or a jewel, it is conspicuous against the white background. If, as occasionally is the case, it blazes with gems, it catches the eye across a ballroom.

The Early Years of Grover Cleveland

His Birth In Caldwell, N. J., His School Days, His Legal Career, His Rise to the Governorship of New York and His Defeat of James G. Blaine For the Presidency In 1884.

WHEN the pastor of the Presbyterian church in the little town of Caldwell, N. J., in 1837 bestowed upon one of his babies the name of the Rev. Stephen Grover, a predecessor in the same pulpit, he probably entertained not the remotest dream that the boy would grow up to discard his first name and become known in world history as Grover Cleveland, twice president of the United States and for the remainder of his life "the most distinguished private citizen in the world." The Rev. Stephen F. Cleveland and his wife, who was Ann Neal, daughter of a Baltimore merchant, had a large family of children. Three years after Grover was born the family migrated, as preachers' families are wont to do. Parson Cleveland became pastor at Fayetteville, N. Y., and later at Clinton, N. Y. The father died when Grover was in his sixteenth year. The family home was then and until the widow Cleveland died in 1882 at Holland Patent, N. Y.

Grover Cleveland attended academics at Fayetteville and Clinton. He had an early ambition to go through Princeton college, but lacked the funds. He became clerk and later assistant teacher in the New York Institution For the Blind, New York city.

Fanny Crosby, the celebrated blind hymn writer, was a teacher in the same school. She and Grover became warm friends. In her reminiscences Miss Crosby writes:

He seemed a very gentle but intensely ambitious boy. Among other very pleasant characteristics which I noticed in him as a careful, hard-working, but not brilliant, lawyer. He had no pyrotechnic, ornamental side. He simply attended to business. Though the Republican state ticket carried Buffalo by more than 1,000 votes, Cleveland was elected mayor by a majority of 3,530. Early in his term he became known as "the veto mayor." He vetoed many extravagant appropriation bills and saved his city at least $1,000,000.

The state of New York soon heard much of this veto mayor. He had been in office less than a year when the Democrats nominated him for governor. New York had not elected a Democratic governor since before the civil war. The Republicans nominated Charles J. Folger, secretary of the treasury in President Arthur's cabinet. Mr. Folger was regarded as a particularly strong candidate, yet Cleveland was elected governor by a plurality of 102,854 over Folger and by a clear majority of 151,742 over all the candidates. Just after he voted on election day he wrote to his brother, the Rev. William Cleveland:

If mother were alive, I should be writing to her, and I feel as if it were a time for me to write to some one who will believe what I write. . . . I will tell you first of all others the policy I intend to adopt, and that is to make the matter a business engagement between the people and myself, in which the obligation on my side is to perform the duties assigned me with an eye single to the interests of my employers. I shall have no idea of reelection or of any high political preferment in my head, but be very thankful and happy if I serve one term as the people's governor. Do you know that if mother were alive I should feel so much

Two Hundred Men Attack the Town of Viesca.

THREE PERSONS ARE KILLED

Several Others Are Wounded in Fight That Culminates in Capture of the City—Government Claims Attack Was Made by Bandits.

Laredo, Tex., June 26.—Two hundred armed and mounted men attacked and captured the town of Viesca, state of Coahuila, Mexico. Three persons were killed and several wounded in the fighting.

Wires were cut and the railroad lines torn up and a bridge burned.

Three train loads of troops have left the City of Mexico for the scene and one train load of soldiers also is leaving Saltillo, the capital of the state.

Reports received here are to the effect that the government believes the attack was made by bandits. The vice president of the republic and the secretary of war and interior, it is stated, deny that the trouble has any political significance. Some reports received here say the outbreak is the starting of a revolution.

SITUATION IS IMPROVING.

Conditions at Teheran Constantly Becoming Better.

London, June 26.—Private messages received here from Teheran say the situation there is improving and well in hand. According to these advices artillery is to be no longer employed in the city, but domiciliary visits on the part of the military will be continued.

Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, speaking in the house of commons, communicated the gist of the information cabled by the British charge d'affaires at Teheran on the subject of the disturbances in that city. The latest message from the charge says everything is quiet at Teheran and that no danger to foreigners is anticipated. Thirty of the prominent members of the opposition have been arrested at the orders of the shah. The foreign secretary added that the British and Russian governments had directed their representatives to warn Zill-Ed-Sultan against intriguing against the throne and to inform the shah that no hostile action against parliament and the constitutional party will receive any support from them.

A special dispatch from Teheran to the Times says the reactionaries are masters of the situation there. Arrests and looting continue and a panic prevails. All the newspaper offices and the anjuman's premises have been looted and closed. The shah's aunt, the wife of Zahir-Ed-Dowleh, committed suicide when her home was destroyed.

CASUALTY LIST HEAVY.

Many Persons Killed in Fighting at Teheran.

Paris, June 26.—A special dispatch received from Teheran states that in the two days' fighting in that city 154 soldiers and 300 Nationalists were killed and wounded. A proclamation has been issued fixing for the elections to be held within three months and urging the people to choose capable deputies. Meanwhile the shah guarantees the safety of the property of all peaceful residents, even that of those persons now under arrest, but the anjuman—the political clubs—are forbidden to meet.

The Cossacks continue to hold the city, but the other troops are encamped outside.

GRAND AMERICAN HANDICAP

Henderson of Kentucky and Harlow of Ohio Tie for First Place.

Columbus, O., June 26.—A strong, stiff wind made the high scores of the last two or three days impossible in the big Grand American handicap event. Three hundred and sixty-three shooters faced the traps, shooting from handicap distances varying from 16 to 22 yards. Woodford Henderson, the ex-Kentucky champion, again headed the list, in company with Fred Harlow of Ohio, in a tie of 92 breaks out of 100. Henderson stood at 19 yards and Harlow at 16. C. G. Spencer of Missouri, at 22 yards, broke 91; George Maxwell, the one-armed Nebraska state champion, 91; Edward Banks, the ex-Delaware champion, 91; Tom A. Marshall, the twice winner of the Grand American handicap in the past, 91, and C. O. Lecompte of Kentucky, 91, all of whom were trade representatives. Clarence Price, an amateur, standing at 16 yards, accounted for 91 of the flying targets.

Diamond Field Discovered.

Berlin, June 26.—A dispatch received from Windhoek, Damara Land, German Southwest Africa, says that a diamond field, the extent of which is nearly ten square miles, has been discovered at Luderitz bay.

Drowned While Boating.

Peoria, Ill., June 26.—While boating on Peoria lake, William Patterson of this city and Miss Dot M. Flagg of Galesburg were drowned. The bodies have not been recovered.

MEETING OF SUB-COMMITTEE

Will Determine Future Course of Representative Sherman.

Washington, June 26.—Until the meeting of the sub-committee of the national Republican committee in this city July 6 there will probably be no determination on the part of Representative Sherman, nominated for the vice presidency on the Republican ticket, as to whether he will continue to serve either as chairman or as a member of the Republican congressional committee. While in Chicago Mr. Sherman had a conference with Representative Tawney, vice chairman, and Representative McKinley, treasurer of the congressional committee, in which Mr. Tawney urged Mr. Sherman to remain at the head of the committee during the campaign, stating that there was no impropriety in his continuing to direct the work. Mr. Sherman did not at once take this view and stated that he thought it would be best to wait until the chairman of the national committee was chosen and then abide by his wishes as to what part he should assume in the work of the campaign. At that time there was no indication of Mr. Sherman's illness and what effect that will have on his views is yet to be seen. Mr. Sherman's friends do not expect that he will resign as a member of the house, as they declare there is no precedent to demand such action and they see no reason why Mr. Sherman should separate himself from participation in the work of congress during the balance of the term for which he was elected.

The Second Presidency of Grover Cleveland

His Fight For the Gold Standard, His Bond Issues, His Defiance of Great Britain Over the Venezuela Boundary, His Support of Palmer and Buckner and His Home Life In Princeton.

AFTER an intermission of four years in private life Grover Cleveland returned to Washington and was inaugurated president of the United States on March 4, 1893, for the second time. The Cleveland of 1893 was very different from the Cleveland of 1885. When he began his first term he was altogether new to Washington and to national politics. He was practically an untried man in the wider field of statesmanship and was but just completing his forty-eighth year. In 1893, at the very mature age of fifty-six, Mr. Cleveland had enjoyed a distinction unique in American history—that of being elected president, even at the cost of war between the United States and England. Great Britain had refused to submit to arbitration a certain boundary dispute with Venezuela. President Cleveland advised the appointment of a commission to determine for itself the boundary line between the two countries with a view to enforce an acceptance of this line by Great Britain. The Monroe doctrine having been accepted from the moment of its promulgation by Secretary of State John Quincy Adams as a part and parcel of sacred American policy, the entire nation stood by the president in his plucky stand. Congress also stood by him. England drew in her horns and accepted the situation gracefully. Grover Cleveland for the time was a great popular hero. However, his defeat for re-election in 1896, had he desired the honor, was a foregone conclusion. Tariff as an issue was tumbled into that condition which years before Mr. Cleveland had described as "innocuous desuetude." The free coinage of silver was demanded by the Democratic majority. Mr. Cleveland supported the Palmer and Buckner "gold Democratic" ticket. When he handed over the governmental reins to President William McKinley, March 4, 1897, he stepped out of office forever.

Mr. Cleveland settled for himself the problem as to what to do with an ex-president by retiring gracefully to Princeton, N. J., in the shadow of the great university which he as a poor boy vainly had hoped to enter. Here he built a home and grew old with his family of bright young children growing up about him. Two more girls and two boys were born.

During and after his presidential terms the Cleveland fishing and duck hunting expeditions supplied much material to the press.

In 1903 Mr. Cleveland was introduced in St. Louis as "the most distinguished private citizen in the world." By that time his political opponents in both of the great parties, generally speaking, had come to look upon him as a historical figure, and by the vast majority of Americans the venerable ex-president was regarded as a true patriot, an honest public servant and an able chief executive.

President Cleveland in 1894 enhanced his immediate unpopularity by sending government troops to Chicago "to prevent the obstruction of the mails" during the great railway strike, against the protest of Governor Altgeld of Illinois, who declared that he was able to cope with the situation without aid from the federal government. This was one of the most sensational acts of Cleveland's career. In 1895 he sent to the senate a message relating to British claims in Venezuela which bristled with bulldog determination to insist upon the upholding of the Monroe doctrine.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND AND HIS SON RICHARD.

Though Mr. Cleveland never possessed in a very appreciable degree that quality which we call personal magnetism, he was undoubtedly the most popular American of his time when he began his second term as president. When he closed that term and retired permanently to private life he was one of the most unpopular Americans for the time being. He had cut loose from his party and become that amazingly unusual thing—an executive independent of the powers which made him. The great struggle for the maintenance of the gold standard against bimetallism which signaled the campaign of 1896 was taking definite shape. The president set himself obstinately toward maintaining the gold standard. In the summer of 1893 he called an extra session of congress and pushed through the repeal of the Sherman act of 1890, under which the government was required to purchase large quantities of silver bullion. The Democracy at large was amazed and enraged at this action, though a very considerable portion of it stood with the president on the issue.

To maintain the gold reserve President Cleveland from time to time made large issues of government bonds. The placing of some of these bonds with New York bankers aroused a cyclone of adverse criticism. Mr. Cleveland, of course, was in the exact storm center. Several years after his retirement Mr. Cleveland wrote a statement explaining the bond sales, defending his own course and declaring that he recalled these executive acts with the greatest satisfaction.

Grover Cleveland

His Birth In Caldwell, N. J., His School Days, His Legal Career, His Rise to the Governorship of New York and His Defeat of James G. Blaine For the Presidency In 1884.

WHEN the pastor of the Presbyterian church in the little town of Caldwell, N. J., in 1837 bestowed upon one of his babies the name of the Rev. Stephen Grover, a predecessor in the same pulpit, he probably entertained not the remotest dream that the boy would grow up to discard his first name and become known in world history as Grover Cleveland, twice president of the United States and for the remainder of his life "the most distinguished private citizen in the world."

GROVER CLEVELAND'S BIRTHPLACE, CALDWELL, N. J.

The Rev. Stephen F. Cleveland and his wife, who was Ann Neal, daughter of a Baltimore merchant, had a large family of children. Three years after Grover was born the family migrated, as preachers' families are wont to do. Parson Cleveland became pastor at Fayetteville, N. Y., and later at Clinton, N. Y. The father died when Grover was in his sixteenth year. The family home was then and until the widow Cleveland died in 1882 at Holland Patent, N. Y.

Grover Cleveland attended academics at Fayetteville and Clinton. He had an early ambition to go through Princeton college, but lacked the funds. He became clerk and later assistant teacher in the New York Institution For the Blind, New York city.

Fanny Crosby, the celebrated blind hymn writer, was a teacher in the same school. She and Grover became warm friends. In her reminiscences Miss Crosby writes:

He seemed a very gentle but intensely ambitious boy. Among other very pleasant characteristics which I noticed in him as a careful, hard-working, but not brilliant, lawyer. He had no pyrotechnic, ornamental side. He simply attended to business. Though the Republican state ticket carried Buffalo by more than 1,000 votes, Cleveland was elected mayor by a majority of 3,530. Early in his term he became known as "the veto mayor." He vetoed many extravagant appropriation bills and saved his city at least $1,000,000.

The state of New York soon heard much of this veto mayor. He had been in office less than a year when the Democrats nominated him for governor. New York had not elected a Democratic governor since before the civil war. The Republicans nominated Charles J. Folger, secretary of the treasury in President Arthur's cabinet. Mr. Folger was regarded as a particularly strong candidate, yet Cleveland was elected governor by a plurality of 192,854 over Folger and by a clear majority of 151,742 over all the candidates. Just after he voted on election day he wrote to his brother, the Rev. William Cleveland:

If mother were alive, I should be writing to her, and I feel as if it were a time for me to write to some one who will believe what I write. I will tell you first of all others the policy I intend to adopt, and that is to make the matter a business engagement between the people and myself, in which the obligation on my side is to perform the duties assigned me with an eye single to the interests of my employers. I shall have no idea of reelection or of any high political preferment in my head, but be very thankful and happy if I serve one term as the people's governor. Do you know that if mother were alive I should feel so much was a disposition to help others whenever possible. Knowing that it was a great favor to me to have my poems copied neatly and legibly, he offered to perform that service for me, and I several times availed myself of his aid.

One day the principal of the school upbraided the blind woman for using the clerk's time in that way. Grover told Miss Crosby that she had a perfect right to employ him in that capacity, inasmuch as her poems were used in the school and also helped to make the institution better known. He advised her to give the principal some "plain prose" the next time he should reproach her. When the official remonstrated a second time, Miss Crosby stood for her rights and won the battle.

When Cleveland was about eighteen years old, he paid a visit to an uncle living in Buffalo. The uncle induced the boy to remain and help him in compiling the "American Herd Book." Grover assisted in several editions of this work, studied law and was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty-two. His first official position was that of assistant district attorney, which he held for three years, during the civil war. Two of his brothers were in the army. Grover was helping to support his mother and sisters. His salary was small. When he was drafted to military service, he hired a substitute and remained at work. Later he was a candidate for the district attorneyship, but was defeated. Then he settled down to law practice. In 1870 he was induced to run for sheriff and was elected, serving for three years.

After another interval of private citizenship, assiduously devoted to his profession, this bachelor lawyer of forty-four years was nominated for mayor of Buffalo on the Democratic ticket in 1881. He had become known safer. I have always thought that her prayers had much to do with my successes. I shall expect you to help me in that way.

Grover Cleveland was precisely like Mayor Cleveland. He was a business governor. It was said of him that he ran the state as he would have run a railroad, mastering the details of the business so that he could run it well. The same writer declares that "he not only preached economy, but he made the state officials practice it. He vetoed bills until the legislators were wild with rage, and he forced through civil service reform."

Grover Cleveland was cordially disliked by the politicians in his party. But his reputation among the people as a plain, practicable, businesslike executive had grown so wide that in the summer of 1884, before the expiration of his gubernatorial term, there was an insistent call for him to accept that "high political preferment" which in the letter to his brother he had declared was not in his head. The great mass of the Democracy throughout the country believed that Cleveland was honest and that nothing could turn him aside from a course which he believed to be right. He was nominated for president at the Chicago convention of 1884, his Republican opponent being James G. Blaine. Mr. Cleveland received a small plurality of the popular vote and an electoral majority of thirty-seven. For the first time since 1856 the Democratic party had carried the presidential election. A man who two years before was unknown beyond his own city and county, a painstaking, laborious lawyer, a ponderous, heavy set "old bachelor," had entered the lists and swept to defeat "the plumed knight" of twenty years' national renown.

Grover Cleveland

His Fight For the Gold Standard, His Bond Issues, His Defiance of Great Britain Over the Venezuela Boundary, His Support of Palmer and Buckner and His Home Life In Princeton.

AFTER an interval of four years in private life Grover Cleveland returned to Washington and was inaugurated president of the United States on March 4, 1893, for the second time. The Cleveland of 1893 was very different from the Cleveland of 1885. When he began his first term he was altogether new to Washington and to national politics. He was practically an untried man in the wider field of statesmanship and was but just completing his forty-eighth year. In 1893, at the very mature age of fifty-six, Mr. Cleveland had enjoyed a distinction unique in American history—that of being elected president, renominated and defeated and again renominated and elected. He had served one full term, with all the experience in national and international politics which that service entailed.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND DUCK HUNTING AT SEVENTY.

In another and more popularly interesting sense the second advent of Cleveland was different. He was now a thorough family man. The Cleverlands had a baby, little Ruth, born in New York Oct. 3, 1891. Her death a few years after her parents' retirement to Princeton, N. J., was a matter of general regret. Mrs. Cleveland during the second term further endeared herself to the American people.

even at the cost of war between the United States and England. Great Britain had refused to submit to arbitration a certain boundary dispute with Venezuela. President Cleveland advised the appointment of a commission to determine for itself the boundary line between the two countries with a view to enforce an acceptance of this line by Great Britain. The Monroe doctrine having been accepted from the moment of its promulgation by Secretary of State John Quincy Adams as a part and parcel of sacred American policy, the entire nation stood by the president in his plucky stand. Congress also stood by

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND AND HIS SON RICHARD.

Though Mr. Cleveland never possessed in a very appreciable degree that quality which we call personal magnetism, he was undoubtedly the most popular American of his time when he began his second term as president. When he closed that term and retired permanently to private life he was one of the most unpopular Americans for the time being. He had cut loose from his party and become that amazingly unusual thing—an executive independent of the powers which made him. The great struggle for the maintenance of the gold standard against bimetalism which signaled the campaign of 1896 was taking definite shape. The president set himself obstinately toward maintaining the gold standard. In the summer of 1893 he called an extra session of congress and pushed through the repeal of the Sherman act of 1890, under which the government was required to purchase large quantities of silver bullion. The Democracy at large was amazed and enraged at this action, though a very considerable portion of it stood with the president on the issue.

To maintain the gold reserve President Cleveland from time to time made large issues of government bonds. The placing of some of these bonds with New York bankers aroused a cyclone of adverse criticism. Mr. Cleveland, of course, was in the exact storm center. Several years after his retirement Mr. Cleveland wrote a statement explaining the bond sales, defending his own course and declaring that he recalled these executive acts with the greatest satisfaction.

him. England drew in her horns and accepted the situation gracefully. Grover Cleveland for the time was a great popular hero. However, his defeat for renomination in 1896, had he desired the honor, was a foregone conclusion. Tariff as an issue was tumbled into that condition which years before Mr. Cleveland had described as "innocuous desuetude." The free coinage of silver was demanded by the Democratic majority. Mr. Cleveland supported the Palmer and Buckner "gold Democratic" ticket. When he handed over the governmental reins to President William McKinley, March 4, 1897, he stepped out of office forever.

Mr. Cleveland settled for himself the problem as to what to do with an ex-president by retiring gracefully to Princeton, N. J., in the shadow of the great university which he as a poor boy vainly had hoped to enter. Here he built a home and grew old with his family of bright young children growing up about him. Two more girls and two boys were born. During and after his presidential terms the Cleveland fishing and duck hunting expeditions supplied much material to the press. In 1903 Mr. Cleveland was introduced in St. Louis as "the most distinguished private citizen in the world." By that time his political opponents in both of the great parties, generally speaking, had come to look upon him as a historical figure, and by the vast majority of Americans the venerable ex-president was regarded as a true patriot, an honest public servant and an able chief executive.

HARVARD WINS RACE

Yale Varsity Crew Is Hopelessly Beaten.

SET TOO STRENUOUS A PACE

Crimson Oarsmen Covered the First Two Miles in Such Fast Time That the Wearers of the Blue Became Fatigued and Their Stroke Collapsed.

New London, Conn., June 26.—Amid a deafening din of steam whistles and horns and amid the frenzied shouts of collegians, the Harvard varsity eight shot their boat over the finish line, winning from the crippled and distanced Yale crew that classic of American college equities, the Harvard-Yale varsity boat race. But instead of a race, Harvard finished the last mile and half alone, while far behind Yale limped along with but seven men at the oars, with Griswold, the stroke—the man who had been relied upon to set the winning pace—bent forward, limp and faint from the terrific strain of the opening two miles. Up to this unexpected climax it had been a stirring struggle, worthy of the best traditions of old antagonists, and with the fitting setting of a marine spectacle such as has seldom been equalled along a regatta course for brilliancy and magnitude. For the first time too, the president of the United States was taking keen and active interest, as a champion of the crimson colors, and although compelled by circumstances to absent himself, the spirit of his enthusiasm was voiced by the Roosevelt family, who witnessed the contest from the deck of the presidential yacht. Yale was more fortunate in having her distinguished champion, Secretary Taft, present in reality, the central figure of a group of collegians aboard one of the observation trains, who shouted encouragement to the Yale crew as they sped over the early reaches of the course and then lapsed into glum dismay as Griswold was seen to fall over helpless in the Yale boat. The race was rowed under the most favorable racing conditions just as the sun was setting over the picturesque Thames, with the water broken only by ripples, a cloudless sky and a light northwesterly breeze.

Aroused Intense Interest.

The picture of the straining racers as they started on their course was one of intense interest. At either end the green hills of the Thames stretched away, dotted with old fashioned New England farmhouses, the river banks fringed with solid masses of people and with crowded observation trains skirting the banks and keeping abreast of the flying boats. The great steel drawbridge spanning the Thames marked the start of the race, with the finish at Red Top, four miles upstream. Just above the bridge were massed the main flotilla of pleasure craft with myriads of trim white hulled yachts, auxiliaries, sloops and schooners, the very pick of the Atlantic pleasure fleet, their rigging bright with signal flags from stem to stern and their spick and span decks alive with yachtsmen, university men and pretty girls in bright summer costume, feathers, fans and gay parasols.

Through this maize of craft the racers threaded their way with a clear, open course 200 feet wide, marked every half mile with red and blue standards—blue for Yale and crimson for Harvard—swaying bronzed forms in the boats as they bent to the terrific strain of twenty-six, then thirty and then thirty-four strokes to the minute. Yale had splashed at the start and the Harvard men had been quick to take this advantage, pushing their boat slightly ahead. There they hung, nip and tuck, Harvard stamnia against Yale pluck. Half a mile from the start both crews were almost side by side, Harvard being a few feet to the fore; one mile, Harvard still ahead with Yale holding on doggedly; two miles, Yale spurting and lessening the gap; two and a half miles, Harvard still in the lead, with open water between the boats and Yale fighting on like grim death.

The Decisive Moment.

Now came the decisive moment with the final stretch in sight and the breathless throngs straining to see if Harvard could keep up the pace or would weaken at the close. Steadily on they came, when suddenly commotion was observed in the Yale boat as Griswold, the stroke, fell forward or his car and ceased to row. Cass Yale's coxswain, had already been dashing water into his pale face for nearly a minute—it seemed—the Yale stroke sat motionless, bent down as lifeless. Then he was seen to straighten up and bend to his oar again, and a great shout went up from the Yale cohorts, as their crew was seen to pick up the stroke and rally for another effort. But they were now six lengths behind, hopelessly beaten. Another twenty strokes and Griswold was seen to collapse again and the whole crew, disheartened at the fall of their leader, quit their work and sat dejected at their oars. Yale was beaten. It was no longer a race and Harvard swung ahead alone, still keeping up the racing clip and crossing the finishing line with a regular "swish, swish," to the very end. Earlier in the day honors were divided, the Yale four defeating the Harvard four by two lengths and the Harvard freshmen eight defeating the Yale freshmen by three lengths.

Glass of Wine by His Own Fire.

When Drury Lane theater was first destroyed by fire Sheridan, its owner, was occupied in the commons with his parliamentary duties, and his sympathetic colleagues immediately voted the adjournment of the house and hurried off to see the conflagration. Sheridan himself opposed the adjournment, but, being outvoted, went and watched the destruction of his property from a neighboring house of refreshment, sharing a bottle of port with Barry. His apparent indifference prompted some friends to expostulate with him, whereupon the author of "The School for Scandal" petulantly observed, "It is hard when a man cannot drink a glass of wine by his own fire." This fire completed Sheridan's financial downfall, and, forsaken by his friends, he died soon after the new theater began its checkered career.—Westminster Gazette.

CLEVELAND'S FUNERAL

Ceremony Will Be Marked by Extreme Simplicity.

Princeton, N. J., June 26.—The funeral of Grover Cleveland will be marked by extreme simplicity. Although twice elected president of the United States, no pomp nor splendor will have a place in the ceremonies. There will be no bands to play mournful dirges on the way to the Old Princeton cemetery, no military escort, no eulogy by the officiating clergymen. The half-mile of thoroughfare through which the cortege will pass from "Westland," the Cleveland home on Bayard Lane, to the cemetery will be policed by mounted troops and blue-coated soldiers, but they will be there for police duty and as a measure of precaution in protecting the living president, rather than as an element of display in paying tribute to a departed chief executive.

It has been Mrs. Cleveland's wish to avoid anything of a military nature at the funeral and it was only when the necessity of guarding President Roosevelt, who is to be in attendance, was borne upon her by those in charge of the funeral arrangements that she consented to the presence of troops in a police capacity.

Four clergymen will officiate at the house and at the grave. They will read the burial service from the Presbyterian book of common worship, but will offer no eulogy. This simple but impressive service will be conducted by Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York; Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Princeton, where the Cleveland family attended, and Rev. Maitland V. Bartlett, former pastor of the same church. There will be no honorary pallbearers. Those who will bear Mr. Cleveland's body to its final resting place in the Cleveland plot will be Mayor George B. McClellan, Paul Morton, Commodore E. C. Benedict, Richard Watson Gilder of New York, Professor Paul Van Dyke, Dean Andrew F. West, Professor John G. Hibben, Junius S. Morgan, a nephew of J. P. Morgan, A. D. Russell, Professor Howard McLenahan and Bayard Stockton of Princeton.

United States Naval Vessels and Consular Offices Will Half-Mast Flag.

Washington, June 26.—To every naval station and every naval vessel in commission throughout the world, to all military posts and stations, to all United States diplomatic and consular offices in every quarter, went forth instructions for observance of the president's proclamation announcing the death. There was an innovation at the state department inaugurated to meet modern conditions. This was telegraphic notification instead of by mail to our representatives in foreign countries to display flags at half mast for thirty days. This instruction was telegraphed with a view to uniformity in the time of observance. Copies of the president's telegram also have been mailed to all of our diplomatic and consular officers.

TO DREDGE FOR GOLD

MINNESOTA MEN BUY BOTTOM OF COLORADO RIVER.

Over 100 Gold Dredges Now in Operation in California—State Fair Officials Are Named as Principals in the Enterprise.

SAN FRANCISCO. —(Special.)—Thomas W. Teasdale of the Omaha road, Harry A. Tuttle of the North American Telegraph company, and E. W. Randall and C. N. Cosgrove of the Minnesota State Fair, and Robert A. Smith, mayor of St. Paul, are reported to have purchased almost all the old bottom of the Colorado river lying between Nevada and Arizona and have acquired the exclusive right to dredge this section of its present bed. They claim the tests made prove it to be as rich, if not the richest known dredging ground, averaging two dollars a yard and containing in addition to garnets and platinum, over twenty million dollars of gold. It is their intention to immediately put several dredges at work.

The Colorado river above this point, according to government reports, drains over 225,000 square miles of the richest mineral ground in the world, carrying annually 61,000,000 tons of sedimentary material, rich in gold and other precious metals, awaiting the ingenuity and enterprise of man to secure it. This river has the reputation among mining men of being the richest in this country. River dredging has only been perfected at a comparatively recent period and in California alone over 100 gold dredges are now at work.

the badge of mourning until July 25 and the firing of salutes every half hour from sunrise to sunset the day of the funeral at all posts, stations, and on board ship. The salute at military posts will include 13 guns at dawn and 45 guns at sunset. The colors in the army also will be placed in mourning.

NEW WAY—3000 CUBIC YARDS A DAY

This Company owns 460 acres of the old river bed of the Colorado River—constituting the present banks of the Colorado River—lying between the rich mineral belts of Arizona and Nevada. Numerous tests made at three different times by different parties, prove it to contain an average $1.50 of gold per cubic yard and in the aggregate, in addition to garnets and platinum, more than TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS of gold.

This Company also practically has the exclusive right to dredge 20 miles of the present bottom of this river, which the tests prove to be as rich as the ground it owns. The river having an average width of 1200 feet, makes this one of the largest and most profitable dredging propositions ever undertaken.

This gold is simply mixed with the earth and practically all of it can be saved by the modern dredge which separates the gold from the ground and saves it as the separator winnows the wheat from the chaff and saves it. Dredging is practically manufacturing on a large scale; it is very profitable. Knowing the amount of gold the ground contains and the cost of taking it out, the profits can be pretty closely estimated and speculation eliminated.

This Company intends putting at least three dredges at work dredging these banks and the present bottom of the river. As each dredge has a daily capacity of 3,000 cubic yards and the ground averages One Dollar in gold per yard and the cost of operation is small, you can see that even one dredge taking out Three Thousand Dollars a day will enable this Company to pay very large dividends and make its stock very valuable. Three dredges taking out Nine Thousand Dollars a day will treble these profits.

As these dredges are expensive and we have not personally all the money necessary to buy them, we concluded to organize this Company and sell some stock. Although this stock now is intrinsically worth more than par, we will sell enough of it at twenty-five cents a share—par value $1.00 per share—to buy the first dredge. As soon as this first dredge is at work it is our intention to materially advance the price of the stock. If you want any of this stock send in your order at once as a large amount of it has already been sold. It is fully paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability.

We feel confident that you will make money by joining us in this enterprise—that this Company will pay very large dividends and that its stock will soon be selling for many times what it cost you.

This simple but impressive service will be conducted by Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York; Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Princeton, where the Cleveland family attended, and Rev. Maitland V. Bartlett, former pastor of the same church. There will be no honorary pallbearers. Those who will bear Mr. Cleveland's body to its final resting place in the Cleveland plot will be Mayor George B. McClellan, Paul Morton, Commodore E. C. Benedict, Richard Watson Gilder of New York, Professor Paul VanDyke, Dean Andrew F. West, Professor John G. Hibben, Junius S. Morgan, a nephew of J. P. Morgan, A. D. Russell, Professor Howard McLenahan and Bayard Stockton of Princeton.

ALL OVER THE WORLD.

United States Naval Vessels and Consular Offices Will Half-Mast Flag.

Washington, June 26.—To every naval station and every naval vessel in commission throughout the world, to all military posts and stations, to all United States diplomatic and consular offices in every quarter, went forth instructions for observance of the president's proclamation announcing the death of President Cleveland. There was an innovation at the state department inaugurated to meet modern conditions. This was telegraphic notification instead of by mail to our representatives in foreign countries to display flags at half mast for thirty days. This instruction was telegraphed with a view to uniformity in the time of observance. Copies of the president's telegram also have been mailed to all of our diplomatic and consular officers.

The orders telegraphed by the war and navy departments direct to half-masting of the colors, the wearing of

TO DREDGE FOR GOLD

MINNESOTA MEN BUY BOTTOM OF COLORADO RIVER.

Over 100 Gold Dredges Now in Operation in California—State Fair Officials Are Named as Principals in the Enterprise.

(From The Minneapolis Tribune)

SAN FRANCISCO. (Special.)—Thomas W. Teasdale of the Omaha road, Harry A. Tuttle of the North American Telegraph company, and E. W. Randall and C. N. Cosgrove of the Minnesota State Fair, and Robert A. Smith, mayor of St. Paul, are reported to have purchased almost all the old bottom of the Colorado river lying between Nevada and Arizona and have acquired the exclusive right to dredge this section of its present bed. They claim the tests made prove it to be as rich, if not the richest known dredging ground, averaging two dollars a yard and containing in addition to garnets and platinum, over twenty million dollars of gold. It is their intention to immediately put several dredges at work.

The Colorado river above this point, according to government reports, drains over 225,000 square miles of the richest mineral ground in the world, carrying annually 61,000,000 tons of sedimentary material, rich in gold and other precious metals, awaiting the ingenuity and enterprise of man to secure it. This river has the reputation among mining men of being the richest in this country. River dredging has only been perfected at a comparatively recent period and in California alone over 100 gold dredges are now at work.

the badge of mourning until July 25 and the firing of salutes every half hour from sunrise to sunset the day of the funeral at all posts, stations, and on board ship. The salute at military posts will include 13 guns at dawn and 45 guns at sunset. The colors in the army also will be placed in mourning.

COLORADO RIVER DREDGING COMPANY

OLD WAY—1 CUBIC YARD A DAY

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

Harry A. Tuttle MINNEAPOLIS, PRESIDENT

SECRETARY MINNESOTA STATE FAIR ASSOCIATION
Jus W. Betander MINNEAPOLIS, SECRETARY

PUBLISHER A. O. U. W. GUIDE
J. Quinn M. D., ST. PAUL
CHIEF SURGEON GREAT NORTHERN RY. CO.

NEW WAY—3000 CUBIC YARDS A DAY

This Company owns 460 acres of the old river bed of the Colorado River—constituting the present banks of the Colorado River—lying between the rich mineral belts of Arizona and Nevada. Numerous tests made at three different times by different parties, prove it to contain an average $1.50 of gold per cubic yard and in the aggregate, in addition to garnets and platinum, more than TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS of gold.

This Company also practically has the exclusive right to dredge 20 miles of the present bottom of this river, which the tests prove to be as rich as the ground it owns. The river having an average width of 1200 feet, makes this one of the largest and most profitable dredging propositions ever undertaken.

This gold is simply mixed with the earth and practically all of it can be saved by the modern dredge which separates the gold from the ground and saves it as the separator winnows the wheat from the chaff and saves it. Dredging is practically manufacturing on a large scale; it is very profitable. Knowing the amount of gold the ground contains and the cost of taking it out, the profits can be pretty closely estimated and speculation eliminated.

This Company intends putting at least three dredges at work dredging these banks and the present bottom of the river. As each dredge has a daily capacity of 3,000 cubic yards and the ground averages One Dollar in gold per yard and the cost of operation is small, you can see that even one dredge taking out Three Thousand Dollars a day will enable this Company to pay very large dividends and make its stock very valuable. Three dredges taking out Nine Thousand Dollars a day will treble these profits.

As these dredges are expensive and we have not personally all the money necessary to buy them, we concluded to organize this Company and sell some stock. Although this stock now is intrinsically worth more than par, we will sell enough of it at twenty-five cents a share—par value $1.00 per share—to buy the first dredge. As soon as this first dredge is at work it is our intention to materially advance the price of the stock. If you want any of this stock send in your order at once as a large amount of it has already been sold. It is fully paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability.

We feel confident that you will make money by joining us in this enterprise—that this Company will pay very large dividends and that its stock will soon be selling for many times what it cost you.

SEND FOR A PROSPECTUS AND YOUR REMITTANCE TO COLORADO RIVER DREDGING CO., 415 NEW YORK LIFE BUILDING, ST. PAUL, MINN.

GUN TO KILL FOOD BEASTS.

Henry Bergh's Device For Humane Slaughtering Tested.

In the ambulance house of the American Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York city a new humane device for the slaughtering of animals for food, the invention of Henry Bergh, treasurer and former president of the society, was recently tested.

The device is not unlike the hose and nozzle of the New York fire department, but in this case the stream that comes from the hose is air. Upon the pressure of a trigger a javelin is hurled from the nozzle with sufficient force to pierce an inch oak plank. By means of an automatic recoil attachment the javelin is brought back for further use, when the trigger is again pressed.

In the experiments boards and canisters were used. Although the instrument was intended for small animals it was said by those who witnessed the tests that it possessed ample power for the slaughter of larger animals.

The device is called an air gun. In the larger styles intended for the slaughter of steers the cylinder containing the javelin is mounted upon a swivel, as is the ordinary type of rapid fire gun. The operator stands six feet away from the animal to be killed, with the muzzle of the gun projecting within three feet of the animal's head. Within a short time it is planned to have a practical test of the invention at one of the New York city abattoirs.

The society is interested in devices of this kind. It has offered a prize of $500 for the best, though Mr. Bergh, being an officer of the society, will not compete.

A True Courtier.

Upon his arrival at the court of Vienna a former French ambassador was presented to the empress, who was aware that the day before he had visited the beautiful Countess X.

"Is it true," she asked, "that the Countess X. is the most lovely woman in Europe?"

"I thought so yesterday, your majesty," replied the diplomat, with a graceful bow.

PLAT NEW TOWN AT KLONDIKE

Keene & McFadden, J. C. Jamieson and Leon E. Lum are Owners of Site

PROPOSE TO PUSH TOWN

Several Buildings will Probably be Erected as Soon as the Town is Platted

Keene & McFadden and J. C. Jamieson, of this city, and Leon E. Lum, of Duluth, who recently purchased the Gilbert farm at Klondike, have decided to plat a town site. The land platted will be just across the railroad from the water tank, between the railroad and Lookout lake. The gentlemen, it is said, have a man who will put in a hotel there and Mr. Jamieson will erect a building to be rented for saloon purposes. There will also be a store put in there and probably other buildings in the near future.

The gentlemen, all of whom have faith in the Cuyuna range, believe that the new town, which is within a couple of miles of where the Rogers-Brown company is sinking a shaft, will prove a first class place.

Stirewalt-Anderson

Mr. Frank Anderson and Miss Luella Irene Stirewalt both of Emily, Minn., were united in matrimony by Rev. J. F. McLeod at the Presbyterian manse Thursday evening at 9 o'clock, June 25th. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Forsberg of Brainerd, stood up with them.

The ceremony was witnessed only by a few intimate friends. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white China silk with insertion lace. She carried white carnations. Mrs. Forsberg carried red carnations. The groom and his attendant were in conventional black.

The happy couple left on the early morning train for Duluth, Superior and Mackinac Island, returning about July Fourth to their home at Emily, Minn.

The bride has quite a circle of friends in Brainerd, having lived for some time with Editor E. K. Woodin, now of Emily.

All join in extending congratulations.

MURDERED IN TACOMA

Former Brainerd Girl Shot by Lover in Tacoma--Dies of Wounds

The Tacoma News, of a recent date, contains an account of the shooting of Mrs. Harriet Cole, of that city, by Frank C. Kelsey, said to be her lover. Mrs. Cole will be remembered by Brainerd residents as Miss Hattie Smith, daughter of "Big Jack" Smith, for many years' a barber in this city, who went west with his family several years ago. Mrs. Cole was separated from her husband about three years ago, and has since been employed in a restaurant, where Kelsey became acquainted with her. A reconciliation was about to be effected with her husband, to avoid which Kelsey tried to induce her to leave with him and on her refusal, shot her twice.

FAN-ANGELICAN CONGRESS.

The Great Religious Gathering in London and this month.

All over the world religious interest is centered in the fan-angelic congress in London called to consider the problems of Christendom, and especially those which closely affect society in its relations to the church. The Anglican communion has many different branches, and the delegates to this congress represent nearly all parts of the habitable globe. The congress has no authority in matters of belief or discipline and is simply a means of bringing together the most able and aggressive workers of the whole Anglican communion, both clerical and lay, for conference on the way to spread the gospel and meet the religious and social needs of the people.

"Morality and Social Life," "Monopolies and Trusts," "The Drink Traffic," "Religion and Wages" and "The Attitude of the Christian Church Toward Islamism, Pantheism and Agnosticism" are other topics of prominence on the programme. The honor of presiding on the first day, was awarded to the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Randall Thomas Davidson, who visited this country four years ago, and the presidents for other days are the bishop of Calcutta, Bishop Tuttle of Missouri, presiding bishop of the American Episcopal church; the archbishop of the West Indies, archbishop of Cape Town, archbishop of Sydney, bishop of London, bishop of Stepney and bishop of Kensington. The meeting place, Lambeth palace, is a historic structure and has been the residence of the archbishops of Canterbury for 700 years.

A CARDINAL'S MIRTH

The Primate of All Ireland, Who Loves a Laugh.

During his visit to this country in connection with the Roman Catholic centennial ceremonies in New York that witty Irishman, Cardinal Logue, archbishop of Armagh and primate of all Ireland, showed that a high ecclesiastic does not always need to wear a long face. He convulsed many an assemblage by his witticisms, and his humor is so irrepressible that his hearers expect he will say something to make them smile at almost any moment. Just before sailing for home the cardinal visited institutions of his church at Tarrytown, N. Y., where John D. Rockefeller's big country place is situated. The cardinal was introduced to several priests who were waiting there to see him. One of them was Father Lennon, who has a church in Mr. Rockefeller's grounds and often plays golf with the rich man.

"This is one who fraternizes with Mr. Rockefeller, the richest man in the world," Cardinal Logue was told.

"I wonder if he is like one of my priests in Ireland," said the cardinal, smiling. "He often played with a rich man, and he always lost the game. But when the rich man died he left the priest $1,000. Do you win or lose, Father Lennon?"

The accompanying snapshots of Cardinal Logue caught him in three moods—first serious, second smiling and third when the smile has changed to a grin.

There is considerable complaint of damage to crops south and east of town from too much moisture. In many places the ground is covered by water and corn is especially backward and yellow.

Though pastures were never better than today, still it would be the part of wisdom, especially for the dairyman, to sow a patch of fodder corn to feed during the hot dry days of August, which we are likely to get even though the spring and early summer has been so wet.

If it is good weather now, so that the meadows can be mowed and the hay cured there will be a bumper hay crop in Crow Wing county.

A representative of the A. A. King Warehouse company, of Duluth, who was in Brainerd a few days ago looking after potatoes, states the potato land between Duluth and the twin cities is becoming affected with the potato disease, or dry rot, and that commission men are turning their eyes toward Crow Wing county for a supply. The company expects to put a man into Brainerd this fall to buy potatoes and will take all first ones offered at good prices. If they do the buyer will also purchase table carrots, turnips, beets, rutabagas, etc.

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 6c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

GUN TO KILL FOOD BEASTS.

Henry Bergh's Device For Humane Slaughtering Tested.

In the ambulance house of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York city a new humane device for the slaughtering of animals for food, the invention of Henry Bergh, treasurer and former president of the society, was recently tested.

The device is not unlike the hose and nozzle of the New York fire department, but in this case the stream that comes from the hose is air. Upon the pressure of a trigger a javelin is hurled from the nozzle with sufficient force to pierce an inch oak plank. By means of an automatic recoil attachment the javelin is brought back for further use, when the trigger is again pressed.

In the experiments boards and cavers were used. Although the instrument was intended for small animals it was said by those who witnessed the tests that it possessed ample power for the slaughter of larger animals.

The device is called an air gun. In the larger styles intended for the slaughter of steers the cylinder containing the javelin is mounted upon a swivel, as is the ordinary type of rapid fire gun. The operator stands six feet away from the animal to be killed, with the muzzle of the gun projecting within three feet of the animal's head. Within a short time it is planned to have a practical test of the invention at one of the New York city abattoirs.

The society is interested in devices of this kind. It has offered a prize of $500 for the best, though Mr. Bergh, being an officer of the society, will not compete.

Just before sailing for home the cardinal visited institutions of his church at Tarrytown, N. Y., where John D. Rockefeller's big country place is situated. The cardinal was introduced to several priests who were waiting there to see him. One of them was Father Lennon, who has a church in Mr. Rockefeller's grounds and often plays golf with the rich man.

"This is one who fraternizes with Mr. Rockefeller, the richest man in the world," Cardinal Logue was told.

"I wonder if he is like one of my priests in Ireland," said the cardinal, smiling. "He often played with a rich man, and he always lost the game. But when the rich man died he left the priest $1,000. Do you win or lose, Father Lennon?"

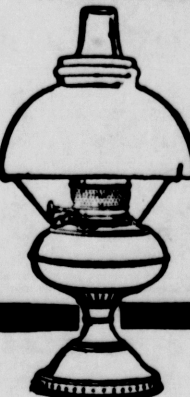

The accompanying snapshots of Cardinal Logue caught him in three moods—first serious, second smiling and third when the smile has changed to a grin.

FARM, HOME AND GARDEN

There is considerable complaint of damage to crops south and east of town from too much moisture. In many places the ground is covered by water and corn is especially backward and yellow.

—O—
Though pastures were never better than today, still it would be the part of wisdom, especially for the dairyman, to sow a patch of fodder corn to feed
during the hot dry days of August, which we are likely to get even though the spring and early summer has been so wet.

—O—
If it is good weather now, so that the meadows can be mowed and the hay cured there will be a bumper hay crop in Crow Wing county.

—O—
A representative of the A. A. King Warehouse company, of Duluth, who was in Brainerd a few days ago looking after potatoes, states the potato land between Duluth and the twin cities is becoming affected with the potato disease, or dry rot, and that commission men are turning their eyes toward Crow Wing county for a supply. The company expects to put a man into Brainerd this fall to buy potatoes and will take all first ones offered at good prices.
If they do the buyer will also purchase
table carrots, turnips, beets, rutabagas, etc.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Amateur Night at "The Unique"

Tonight is amateur night at the Unique and a number of local aspirants for histrionic fame will be present and strive for the prize. In addition to this there will be an entire change of program. If you want an hour of fun go and see the amateurs and enjoy the moving pictures. The theatre management has installed a huge gramophone to give street concerts every evening, which is proving successful in drawing a crowd.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break, or head off these early colds. That's surely better.
That's why they are called Preventics.
Preventics are Little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no physic, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Promptness may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child, if there is feverishness, night or day. Herein probably lies Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 5c boxes for the pocket, also in 25c boxes of 48
Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you
